Supervisors plan $1 million county-wide road project

BY AMY PICKICH

Hancock supervisors are making a list and checking it twice—a road list that is for a $1 million county-wide road improvement plan.

The $500,000 initial cost of the project was doubled at a supervisors' workshop Thursday as board president Mike Ladner reported a balance of $1.2 million in a county escrow account from gaming revenues. The remaining portion of the money in escrow has already been committed to the county general fund and library improvements.

The project, which will include the overlay, trenching, widening, striping, chipping and sealing of county roads is still in the planning stages, but supervisors hope to get details ironed out soon with a tentative fall construction date.

Said Ladner, "If we wait any longer, we're not going to have any roads."

The problem of how to divide the money arose, as some districts have more roads than others. However, supervisors agreed the money should be divided according to the unit system, with each district receiving $200,000 to work with, minus an 8 percent engineering fee.

County engineer Larry Seal and road superintendent Sam Cuevas have been working on details and cost estimates for the project according to roads submitted by the supervisors. The group will spend the coming weeks prioritizing and working on the list according to the budgeted figures.

Supervisors plan to have another workshop on the issue before plans are finalized at a later meeting.

Pearlington sewerage problems addressed at county workshop

BY AMY PICKICH

Providing sewerage to Pearlington, a new computer system at the justice court and extended trolley service in Hancock County were some of the items discussed at a workshop Monday.

Supervisors discussed extending the Hancock County Wastewater District 1 to include Pearlington instead of creating a separate sewer district. Two separate districts would compete for federal monies.

Duke Levy agreed to begin working on a grant application which could provide $450,000 in grant monies to provide sewerage to Pearlington.

Supervisor Alton Kellar said emergencies monies may be available because of the problems there, including sewerage in the ditches. He added Congressman Gene Taylor is also looking into the funds.

Levy said the present $4.2 million expansion of the district, which includes the county, Waveland and Bay St. Louis, needs to be completed before a new project is started, but he will begin work on the application process to meet its due date of April 25 or May 1.

Supervisor's agreed to work with the district once more is known about grant money and financing.

District 1 Supervisor Robert Peterson said the bottom line is not to let the monthly sewer payment go any higher.

COMPUTER SYSTEM

Supervisors discussed purchasing a $6-10,000 new computer system for justice court. The justice court office was not a part of the new system recently approved for the tax assessors and other county offices.

Judge Joe Dobson and the justice court staff said they were not approached about being a part of the new system. Dobson said the present computer system requires double the work for the staff.

TROLLEY

Supervisors said they did not see an immediate need to extend trolley services in Hancock County, but did not rule out the possibility of extending trolley services in the future.

Coast Transit Authority spokesman Ted Hearn appeared at a recent meeting of the board as Jubilee Casino officials had requested the extension to the Bayou Caddy area.

District 2 Supervisor Alton Kellar said if the trolley is going to be extended to the casino

DOT official presents anti-litter program to students

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

A presentation of Litter Critters will be made to elementary school students in Hancock County by Shelbria Stubbs, Southern District Adopt-A-Highway director from the Mississippi Department of Transportation.

Stubbs will be accompanied by beautification committee members, including Carol Vegas and Cherie Schadler.

Students will receive a card identifying them as an Anti-Litter Special Agent from Southern Highway Commissioner Ronnie Shows. They will also receive a Litter Quitters and Me Too Get Rid of Trashy coloring book, a bookmark and a vehicle litter bag.

The chamber's beautification committee has designated the month of March as Bright and Beautiful and a special cleanup will be conducted countywide March 19.

Darlene Underwood is the cleanup chairman for March with Betsy Ashman as vice-chairman.

"All street, road and highway adopters are urged to clean their areas on or before March 19," Underwood said.

Hancock Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, reports he will be assisting in the cleanup with trustees collecting litter on roads throughout the county for several weeks.

Elementary school additions discussed, 16th section land sold for $41,000

BY AMY PICKICH

Hancock Schools Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois told school board members Monday the state Department of Education had no objections to the proposed plans and site for additions at the elementary schools.

Architect John Mykolyk, who was scheduled to appear before the board to present final plans, will do so in about two weeks. The plans will then be sent to the state for final approval, with construction getting underway shortly thereafter.

Bourgeois has said she expects a clean report when the results of recent soil samples return in about three weeks.

According to James Reeves of the state Department of Education, the district filed reports as required in 1989 and 1992 and the asbestos poses no threat in the areas where it has been identified. He said the asbestos reported in a boiler and under floor tile is common and is nonfriable.

A former school district maintenance man has claimed asbestos to be in dangerous areas of Gulfview Elementary, which could be disturbed by additions.

Bourgeois said she had the soil samples taken to ensure there is no threat of danger.

Also at Monday's meeting, 16th section land near Catahoula was sold to Whitfield

VICTIM'S FATHER
 Mrs. Fortier, 55, of Bay St. Louis, died Tuesday, March 14, 1994, at the Bay St. Louis Hospital. She was a native of New Orleans, La., and a resident of Diamondhead for the past five years. She was a Catholic. She was a member of DWGA Nine-Holers Association and the Mardi Gras Krewe of Diamondhead. Mrs. Fortier was preceded in death by her father, Oliver C. Sutherland.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

What do you pin your greatest hopes on as you go about your daily living? Which person, which scene, which event in human history spells the ultimate hope longed for by each human being and by you in particular?

"Ultimate hope," of course, excludes all merely secular occurrences, since nothing secular gives the promise of anything beyond the grave. Only in the Bible can we find scenes which leapfrog death itself to eternal life in paradise.

So which biblical scene does the most for you in terms of meaning, power and hope? Sure, I know. Dozens of personal choices will be advanced, and, since they are personal, they are all valid and cannot be refuted.

Here is my bid. There is a scene from the Bible which has more clout than the manger at Christmas time, the empty tomb on early Easter morning or the tongues of fire at Pentecost. It has more power because it includes all of the above.

Jesus had done many hours without food and drink. He had gone through the most agonizing prayer in history, straining to reconcile himself to the bitter cup of his Father's will.

Betrayed by a money-greedy friend for 30 pieces of silver, he was thrown in jail, scourged savagely by the Romans, subjected to scorn in a red robe, pelted with rocks, spat upon, dragged over rocks, and forced to carry a heavy log.

By the time he made it to the Hill of Skulls, he was totally exhausted, dehydrated and sad. Two spikes crushed his hands to the crossbar while a third spike nailed his feet to the foot of the vertical timber.

As if he were not miserable enough already, the crucified criminals at his side taunted him. At first, both criminals hurled insults, as we read in Matthew 27: 44. At the very end, one of them had a change of heart.

"Have you no fear of God, for you are subject to the same condemnation? And indeed we have been condemned justly, for the sentence we received corresponds to our crimes, but this man has done nothing criminal. Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom."

The response of Jesus is altogether spectacular, since no such promise was ever made to St. Joseph, John the Baptist or anyone else in the annals of history, but only to a common thug, a criminal who had squandered almost all of his life:

"Amen, I say to you, today you will be with me in paradise" (Lk. 23: 40-43).

The message to all human beings is loud and clear: Jesus puts no limits except death itself on the moment of conversion or turning back to him. Likewise, Jesus is willing to look past even the grossest and most sinful life.

Dismas, as tradition calls him, or the Good Thief who stole heaven at the last minute, wasted his entire life up until the final few minutes. If anyone would be excluded from the mercy of God, surely he would.

Yet, it was to him only that Jesus gave the most treasured promise of all time: "Today you will be with me in paradise."

That says to all of us, no matter who we are, no matter what we are, no matter where we have been, no matter what we have done, no matter how much of our life and the life of others we have ruined, Jesus reaches out to us in mercy.

tees assisted Department of Transportation workers cleaning the highways of litter.

Ellis C. Cuevas, chamber director and beautification chairman said, "The reason for the big cleanup push in early March is to make a good presentation of the county during the Mississippi Gulf Coast Garden Clubs' annual Spring Pilgrimages."

All organized clubs and groups are urged to register for the cleanup by calling the chamber at 467-9048, or Underwood at 467-5456.

Litter bags are available at the chamber and also at the Extension Service office in the Human Resources Complex, Longfellow Road.

The cleanup is also in conjunction with Governor Kirk Fordice's state-wide campaign, It's My Mississippi, anti-litter campaign launched in January.

Sam Cuevas, county road superintendent, will provide collection points in the county at the County Barn on Highway 43 and White Cypress Lakes on Saturday, March 19 to assist in the cleanup.

The Diamondhead Rotary and Business and Professional Association will conduct a cleanup of I-10 Interchange on March 19, while the Johnson Controls and NASA employees will clean the I-10/607 interchange March 18.

The local cleanup is sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

A private donor will again be sponsoring "litter bucks" during this cleanup effort. Litter bucks are a monetary prize placed somewhere in the county to encourage participation.

Several anti-litter programs have been presented in recent years by the chamber's beautification committee to the area's elementary schools. These included programs by Cherie Schadler and the Bayou Town Musical Puppet Theatre.

The DOT programs will be at the following schools and beginning times: St. Clare Catholic, Tues., Mar. 15, 8 a.m.; Charles B. Murphy, Tues., Mar. 15, 1 p.m.; Coast Episcopal, Wed., Mar. 16, 12:15 p.m.; Waveland Elementary, Wed., Mar. 16, 2 p.m.; Bay Catholic, Thurs. Mar. 17, 9:30 a.m.; and Hancock North Central Elementary, Thurs. Mar. 17, 1 p.m.

Gulfview Elementary, Fri., Mar. 18, 8:30 a.m.; North Bay Elementary, Fri., Mar. 18, 1:30 p.m.; and Diamondhead Elementary, Tues., Mar. 29, 9:45 a.m.

Forestry facts

Mississippi's forests provide a home to many kinds of wildlife. A managed forest provides better habitat for wildlife than do forests left just to nature.

Forestry practices such as prescribed burnings, tree planting, periodic thinning and small clearcuts help wildlife by creating more food and cover.

Timber Company, located near the land, for $41,000. Whitfield was the sole bidder on the property.

The board approved the 16th section land cancellation and residential lease due to renegotiation.

However, the board tabled a request by Keith Lee to gain a 30-foot right-of-way on the south boundary of 16th section land to construct a roadway. The road would give him access to his property, which is near the Leetown Road exit. He also requested the board waive any and all payments for a right-of-way lease.

The board agreed to ask for a more definite proposal and plat to scale from Lee.

Bids were accepted for the sale of several old schoolbuses. Dale Cuevas was awarded buses 13 and 1 for $125 each, buses 22 and 18 for $275 each and bus 19 for $200. The board agreed to take the bids for buses 14 and 15 under advisement until both Cuevas and bidder B.I. Terry were contacted as they both bid $275 for each bus.

A recommendation to adhere to the state Department of Education's mandate to require health in lieu of physical education for incoming freshmen at Hancock High for the coming year was tabled until the pros and cons of the change are addressed.

A policy on new positions was tabled until board members can discuss the matter with administrators and principals. Board member Lynette Necaise said all positions should be advertised and open to the public. Bourgeois said employees in the district should be considered first, then open the position to the public.

Bourgeois reported the district received $5,168 from Chandler Insurance Group as its premium was lowered because of the number of districts enrolled in the insurance program.

PERSONNEL

The board approved the employment or employment changes of:

—Greg Amacker as Hancock Junior High girls track coach for the remainder of the school year, with salary adjustment;

—pre-school teacher Alison Miller, whose 9 1/2 month contract extended through June 3;

—Mike Hailey, whose contract was extended through June 24 to prepare for sports activities;

—Cheryl Lynn Seals, Denise Brignac, Philippa C. Gillen, Kelli A. Hamilton, Tamara Gauthreaux and Mary Ruth Lancaster as substitute teachers for the remainder of the school year;

—Nancy Stravinsky, for a one-time fee of $50, to conduct a student science fair workshop for the South Central Bell Adopt-A-School Grant.

—and Roberta Saucier by private contract, as she will transport special students 116 miles a day at $42.80 a day;

BIDS AND QUOTES

The board accepted the bids and quotes of:

—$1,542 from Pickett Theatre for stage curtains at Hancock North Central, for which the PTO will reimburse the district;

—for carpet at the Charles B. Murphy school library;

—$850 from Angela Ture Concepts for a field conditioner for the HHS baseball field;

—$1,774 from Computer and Technology for a computer and multi-media kit for special education, from EEF funds;

—$595.72 for two televisions from WalMart, from EEF funds;

—$2,300 from All Seasons Refrigeration for a 4-ton air handler, a 4-ton condenser and water safety pan for Charles B. Murphy;

—two laminators, for Gulfview and for CBM from Beckley Cardley for $2,531 each, from EEF funds;

—$959 from EEF funds for a 16" globe and U.S. world combinations maps from CRAM Company, Inc.;

—$729 from EEF funds for Ellison Machine Supplies from Ellison Education Equipment;

—$1,533 for 50 metal lite frames to include wire glass from Phillips Building Supply for doors at Hancock Elementary.

—$4,055 for 6,000 gallons of diesel from Retif Oil and Fuel;

—$3,500 for an optical mark reader from National Computer Systems for the vocational department;

The board approved a request to return a performance bond to International Paper Company and retain $354 from Georgia Pacific's performance bond due to unmarked timber being removed for roads and logging decks.

They agreed to advertise for instructional and office supplies, printing, waste disposal, propane, diesel, recap tires, pest control, athletic field fertilization and fall and winter sports supplies for the next school year, and to re-advertise for bids for the installation of doors on 35 restroom stalls at Gulfview Elementary and on the gymnasium and cafeteria at Hancock North Central.

A request to submit the even start grant application was approved.

Approved the addition of two days for a training trip March 26-April 3 to the National Science Teachers Association convention in Anaheim, California for 6 teacher to attend a workshop on "Students with Disabilities in the Science Classroom". Since Alternative School principal Elaine Lizana is included, the board instructed the superintendent to make sure an administrator was at the school.

Burns to address T & G

Robert A. Burns, assistant executive director, Mississippi State Port Authority at Gulfport, will be featured speaker at the next monthly meeting of the Hancock County Tourism & Gaming Association (T&G), 8 a.m. Thursday, March 17 at the Waveland Resort Inn.

Burns' remarks will include a report on current activities at the Port as well as planned projects for the future.

Burns is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a degree in communications. In addition to serving as the assistant executive director of the port, he is editor of the port's quarterly magazine, The Manifest.

He currently serves as vice-president of the Port of Gulf-port's Propeller Club and vice-president of the International Trade Club.

Members of the T&G and their guests are encouraged to attend.

Lacy J. Dalton at Jubilee

Lacy J. Dalton, one of country music's hottest female recording stars, will be bringing her foot-stomping, crowd-pleasing act to Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's Cabaret Carnivale March 10-14.

Dalton, labeled by People magazine as "Country's Bonnie Raitt," will perform twice nightly at the 400-seat Las Vegas-style showroom with the first showing beginning at 8 p.m. and the second at 11 p.m. Reservations are required.

Lacy has been nominated for Best Female Vocalist several times throughout her career, and her hit singles include "Crazy Blue Eyes," "Hillbilly Girl With The Blues," "Takin' It Easy" and "16th Avenue."

Upcoming acts appearing at the Jubilee Casino's Cabaret Carnivale include The Original Drifters (March 17-22), Rockin' Doopsie (March 24-29), and Rare Earth (March 31-April 5).

For reservations call 1-800-552-0707.

then the casino should pay for it.

To extend trolley services in Hancock County, supervisors would have to pay a portion of the cost, which would cost some $2,750 a month.

Hearn said public transportation has to be looked at for the future. One project his company is looking at for the future is a park-and-ride facility. He said he is not forcing the issue, but "interested in meeting needs if there are needs to be met."

He said that many locals ride it to work, some 70 percent of those riding in the Gulfport-Biloxi area do. Hearn said there are about 80 to 90 riders per day in Hancock County.

Supervisors did not rule out extending services or a temporary extension in the future, considering the issue as they saw a need.

ON PATROL

THEFT

Andre Frilot, 30, of Mandeville was arrested early Friday at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino and charged with grand larceny, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Nathan Hoda.

Hoda said Frilot allegedly stole some $900 from a player sitting next to him at a craps table around 2 a.m.

Frilot has been released on a $2,500 bond Hoda said.

PERJURY

Freddie Lee Martin, 20, of Pass Christian has been charged with perjury himself during the murder trial of Anthony McKinley this week at the Hancock County Courthouse, according to Bay St. Louis Detective Shane Corr.

Corr said Martin testified on behalf of the defense Tuesday that he witnessed Darryl Robinson assault McKinley's father, Cecil McKinley.

However, Corr said at the time of the murder Martin was at the State Penitentiary at Parchman.

Anthony McKinley was sentenced to life in prison this week for manslaughter. He was charged with murder for the June 8, 1993, shooting death of Darryl Robinson in Bay St. Louis.

Corr said the jury convicted McKinley of manslaughter, which is a lesser charge than murder, but he received life in prison because he was a habitual offender.

Diamondhead death ruled an accident

The death of Janice S. Fortier, 54, of Diamondhead has been ruled an accident, according to Hancock County Coroner Norma Stiglet.

Stiglet said an autopsy showed Fortier died of head and neck trauma at Hancock Medical Center some three hours after being trapped between an elevator and platform in a friend's home. The house, at 1446 Hanakealoha Place in Diamondhead, was on stilts.

Stiglet said there were no witnesses, so investigators can only assume that Fortier may have been leaning over as the elevator was going down and knocking her down.

Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The local pilgrimage is sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

Activities begin on Thursday, Mar. 17, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the John C. Stennis Space Center and the Hancock County Welcome Center on Interstate 10.

Stennis offers a variety of exhibits representing the work of the Space Center resident agencies, live demonstrations, movies and a panoramic view from the 90-foot Space Tower.

There will also be guided bus tours to take visitors to the Space Shuttle Complex.

The Stennis Space Center also offers a glimpse of the area's rich history and takes us forward to envision tantalizing ideas and vistas of a not too far distant future offered by science and technology.

Hostesses at the space center will be from the Diamondhead Garden Club.

Activities will be numerous at the Hancock Welcome Center on I-10. Bay-Waveland Garden Club members will be hostesses.

The Welcome Center has been called "the most beautiful Hospitality Center in the U.S.A."

The copy of an antebellum home offers appointments and paintings and a handsome staircase, which visitors just marvel about.

This would be a good time for locals to visit 'our welcome center' and see the fine job Bobby Hawthorne, director and her staff do day-in-and-out giving visitors a big welcome to our area.

On the other end of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, the Mississippi Welcome Center on I-10 west off the Alabama state line will be celebrating the pilgrimage, too.

Garden Club members from Moss Point will serve there as hostesses.

Next Friday will be Pass Christian's day followed by Long Beach on Saturday, etc.

I will be telling you more about the upcoming pilgrimage days as they get closer.

Congratulations are in order for J.D. (Big John) Rutherford for receiving the Jefferson Award from WLOX-TV and Jefferson Bank.

I am glad to see Big John recognized as he has really dedicated his life to helping others.

He was one of three selected along the Coast for the prestigious honors. Others being named this year were Needham J. Flanagan of Gulfport and J.H. (Buster) Strahan of Poplarville.

One of the three from the Coast will be selected to compete in the American Institute for Public Service's 'Outstanding Public Service Benefiting Local Communities' and will also receive a trip to Washington, D.C.

Rutherford, a native of the Bayou LaCroix community, has been active in so many community projects that I do not have enough space on this page to list them all.

John and his late wife Rosemary Walle, are the parents of five children, and nine grandchildren.

He has been very active in the American Legion, founder of the Hancock County Blood Bank and chairman, a chairman of Boys State, received Boy Scouting's Silver Beaver, received the American Legion's Distinguished Service Award, is a Hancock Medical Center trustee, member of the State Athletic Commission, chairman of the March of Dimes, and the honors and plaudits go on and on.

John has probably been responsible for more spaghetti and meatballs and fried fish dinners in Hancock County than any other person.

He even served as King Triton VII for the Krewe of Triton in 1981, and King Neptune for the 1980 Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo.

Named an Outstanding Citizen by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce in 1980, Big John is still helping his fellow man.

Congratulations again, Big John. You deserve all the recognition you receive and the more.

A very interesting speaker is scheduled for the monthly meeting of the Hancock County Tourism & Gaming Association to be held Thursday, 8 a.m. at the Waveland Resort Inn.

Guest speaker is Robert A. Burns, assistant executive director of the Mississippi State Port Authority at Gulfport.

I have heard Burns address the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, and he has a very important message to tell about the State Port in Gulfport.

T&G members and their guests are encouraged to attend, according to Jim Henrie, spokesperson.

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

By Governor Kirk Fordice

Governor to work with education chairmen to give teachers raise

I am somewhat encouraged by the fact that at least some people in the Capitol this legislative session are talking about "accountability" in education.

The most recent struggle we find ourselves in is a struggle to address teacher pay.

Given the current state of the teacher pay discussion, in the name of "accountability," and in the interest of compromise, I announced last week my decision to accelerate my own teacher pay raise plan and my commitment to work with education chairmen Sen. Ronnie Musgrove and Rep. Billy McCoy in giving good teachers a raise and giving good parents peace of mind.

I am in full support of giving teachers a pay raise. I have been for the 2 1/2 years I've been here. However, I do not believe that that pay raises should be handed out willy-nilly to just anyone with a teaching contract.

I have decided to accelerate my pay plan to take effect in the next school year. My plan will now set aside up to $50 million, as opposed to the $46 million currently being proposed, to fund a Performance Pay Plan for Mississippi teachers.

I propose a three-tiered pay enhancement ladder: $1,000 for an "Advanced Teacher," $3,000 for a "Lead Teacher," and $5,000 for a "Master Teacher."

Teachers participating in the Performance Pay Plan will be evaluated not only by classroom experience, but on the basis of student progress, evidence of professional development activities beyond those required, a review by a peer group of educators and national certification standards.

Mississippi parents want teachers to be held accountable for the progress of their students. Mississippi parents ask questions every year that they deserve to have answered — questions like: are our children's test scores getting any better? Did they make measurable progress? Why aren't they doing well?

I have questions too — questions like: what about the good teacher who is a volunteer sponsor for the student council? What about the star teacher who attends professional development seminars and workshops on her own time or out of his own pocket? Why should an inadequate teacher be carried by good teachers and rewarded for his or her inadequacy?

I have presented this compromise in the name of good teachers all over Mississippi — and believe me, the people of our state know who they are.

In our legislature we must begin passing "parent powers" that give Mississippi parents a foot in the education door.

I do not consider an across-the-board pay raise to represent accountability or effectiveness in changing the lackluster record of public education in Mississippi.

I commend the group of Mississippi legislators who have listened to their constituents and begun to work toward firm accountability in education.

Mississippi should be encouraging excellence and not mere existence. I do not believe our children's test scores, classroom results, or overall progress will improve by giving out another "business as usual" across-the-board pay raise.

I do, however, believe our entire education community will change if the vast majority that make up our best teachers are put up on a pedestal by their state — and that is what I urge the Legislature to help me achieve.

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

New threat to tax equalization

In the late 1970s, J.C. Redd, a former chairman of the Mississippi Economic Council, and a group of private citizens called Mississippians Associated for Tax Equity filed a lawsuit against the State of Mississippi.

The suit alleged that the current taxing system of the state was unfair because it ignored the constitutional guarantee of equity among taxpayers. Simply put, some citizens were paying too little in taxes, others were paying too much.

The courts agreed, saying the system of taxation of property in Mississippi was "shameful and outrageous." In their ruling, they ordered the Tax Commission to begin a "tax equalization" process to bring fairness back to the taxpayers of Mississippi.

Now, in spite of the ruling handed down by the highest court in the state, some tax assessors are attempting to undo the progress achieved in years past. They would have the Legislature reverse the changes made for equalization and fairness already demanded by the courts by restricting the equalization efforts of the state Tax Commission.

And, to add misery to misery, they are doing it in spite of the fact that their resistance to equity would likely create yet

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Encouragement paid off for this 'race walker'

To the Editor:

Although I am not an athlete by any stretch of the imagination, each morning on my days off from work I get up and go to the track in front of Hancock Medical Center. I walk around the track six to eight times, deluding myself that I am a 'race walker'!

Why do I do this to myself? I ask this each time I get up and feel my muscles aching from soreness.

The truth is that I am a vain, middle-aged woman who enjoys positive comments from fellow track walkers and runners and from those who honk their car horns and wave.

I especially enjoyed the two older gentlemen who jokingly teased and encouraged me at the same time. They no longer walk anymore; I believe one of them has moved away. I miss both of them. They both were there at the beginning when I started and probably remember when it took two signs on each side of me stating, "wide lead approaching."

Because of them and others who offered support and kindness, I can say proudly, "Baby look at me now!" Thank you.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

Senate decides to leave divorce laws status quo

The tenth week of the 1994 session for the Senate concluded by meeting the deadline for acting on bills and constitutional amendments which originated in the House of Representatives.

House Bill 652 entitled the uniform premarital agreement act attempted to add irreconcilable differences as a reason for divorce in Mississippi.

By a vote of 24-23 the Senate decided to maintain the 12 grounds for divorce in state law. Presently, a couple can get a divorce under one of the 12 grounds or through a no-fault system to which certain terms have been agreed.

HATE CRIMES

The Senate adopted House Bill 768 which would provide for enhanced penalties for hate crimes. Any offense committed or motivated by reason of the victim's actual or perceived race, color, religion, ethnicity, ancestry, national origin, or gender may be penalized by doubling the maximum imprisonment, the maximum fine or doubling both.

Seeking an enhanced penalty shall not be mentioned in the guilt or innocence phase of a trial or in any documents or evidence seen by a jury.

HOME HEALTH

The state Department of Health will continue to provide home health care services to Mississippians in a bill approved by the Senate, the House and en route to the Governor. The department will also implement House Bill 1399 deemed the "Osteoporosis Prevention and Treatment Education Act."

Creating a statewide program to heighten awareness about the causes, personal risk factors, early detection and treatment options is the main goal of the act.

SCHOOL PRAYER

The Senate voted 49-1 for House Bill 222 which would allow student-initiated voluntary prayer at public schools and school-related assemblies and programs. Several school prayer bills were introduced this session by both bodies after a principal in Jackson allowed students to pray over a school intercom.

LOBBY REFORM

Lobby reform has been passed by both the Senate and the House and awaits approval from the Governor. House Bill 667 requires lobbyists to report by itemizing any amount spent on an elected or appointed public official over the $10 a year total. Current law allows a $25 total per occasion for each official before a report must be filed by a registered lobbyist.

Both the Senate Appropriations and Finance Committees are conducting meetings as the March 16 deadline for acting on appropriation and finance bills originating in the House of Representatives falls in the coming week.

During the 1994 session Senator Bill Johnson may be reached at P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215 or by calling 359-3770.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Sierra Club

Chris Lagarde, special assistant for Fisheries and Natural Resources in Rep. Gene Taylor's office, will be the featured speaker at the March 24 meeting of Sierra Club.

Lagarde, a biologist, is very knowledgeable about environmental issues on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

His program will be "An Update on Conservation Issues." The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Westside Community Center, 4010 West Beach, Gulfport, in the east meeting room. For additional information, call 865-1508 or 435-2623.

Hancock County Historical Society

In lieu of its regular monthly meeting, the Hancock County Historical Society has arranged a tour of Beauvoir for members and any other interested persons on Thursday, March 17.

The group will gather at 9:15 a.m. at Lobrano House, Cue Street, Bay St. Louis (across from the county courthouse) and leave promptly at 9:30 in a caravan of cars.

Following the tour of Jefferson Davis' last home, the tour group will lunch at nearby Ryan Steak House. Costs include $3.75 for the tour and from $3 to $9 for lunch.

While reservations are not necessary, the society suggests that those planning to attend confirm by calling 467-4090.

PEO Chapter Q

Members of Chapter Q, PEO Sisterhood of Diamondhead, will meet at the home of Bertha Morris Wednesday, March 16 at 2:30 p.m.

Dr. Janet Richards will present a program entitled "Current Trends in Literacy Education."

The following will serve as officers for the year: president, Carolyn Koerner; vice-president, Ida Mae Snow; recording secretary, Margaret Pflugfelder; corresponding secretary, Barbara Smith; treasurer, Barbara Nicks; chaplain, Mary King; and guard, Marian Farlow.

another wasteful expense for Mississippi taxpayers.

Property reappraisal ordered by the state Supreme Court as part of the tax equalization process has cost taxpayers in Mississippi an estimated $70 million already.

The reversal of equalization would inevitably bring even more lawsuits against the state, which would again heap on enormous costs.

The courts have spoken. Let the Tax Commission do its job as the courts have deemed fit.

Beta Sigma Phi XI Theta Chapter

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, XI Theta Chapter of Pass Christian, held their monthly meeting and luncheon at the Grand Casino in Gulfport Tuesday, March 8.

A short business meeting was conducted by president Garry Bishop with 10 members in attendance. After the meeting a luncheon buffet was enjoyed by all.

Members will be notified of the time and place of the April meeting as there may be a change in the meeting date.

Individuals can do much to prevent crime

Mississippians in virtually all walks of life can play important roles in the battle against crime, according to the Mississippi Department of Public Safety's Division of Public Safety Planning.

"Our state's law enforcement officers are some of the best-trained and most dedicated in the nation, but they alone cannot win this battle," said Donald O'Cain, Public Safety Planning's executive director.

"An extremely effective measure in reducing neighborhood crime," he said, "is to team up with neighbors in an organized effort such as a neighborhood watch. Know your neighbors, and become familiar with their routines."

O'Cain suggested having neighborhood meetings at regular intervals and to exchange names and other details such as home and work telephone numbers.

He also advocated reporting all suspicious behavior in the neighborhood immediately to law enforcement agencies.

"Look after your neighbor's house or apartment when he or she is away, and ask this individual to also look after yours," O'Cain advised. "This would include collecting newspapers and other deliveries which could indicate at a glance that nobody is home."

"Valuable assistance in increasing the safety of a neighborhood can come from a crime prevention officer," he noted. "Most city police departments will make this individual available to neighborhood groups, and, in addition to helping with neighborhood crime prevention, this officer usually will, to the extent that time permits, assist in conducting individual home security surveys."

O'Cain advised all homeowners and apartment dwellers to be sure that:

- doors and windows are not obscured by trees or shrubbery.
- all entrances are lighted at night.
- no entrances, such as the garage and inside doors, are unlocked.

- exterior doors are secured by a deadbolt.
- house or apartment numbers are prominently displayed and easily seen at night to help personnel responding to emergencies.
- there's a 180-degree peephole viewer on the outside of the door.

"No home or apartment is totally burglar-proof," O'Cain noted, "but a secured home or apartment is much less attractive to a burglar."

O'Cain advised marking all valuables with an identifying number. Some law enforcement agencies will assist in obtaining an engraver for this purpose, he said.

"Many crimes related to motor vehicles are the result of carelessness," O'Cain noted.

"Obeying all highway safety laws, never drinking alcoholic beverages before or during the operation of a vehicle and always using safety belts are extremely important steps; but there are many more steps motorists should take to protect themselves and their vehicles." He advised motorists to:

- always have vehicle doors locked and windows rolled up enough to keep another person from reaching into the vehicle.
- keep the vehicle in gear at stop lights and signs.
- whenever possible, travel in well-lighted, busy areas.
- keep all valuables out of sight.
- never leave your key in the ignition if you leave the vehicle, even for just a few minutes.

— Determine "safe havens," such as gasoline stations, convenience stores and police and fire stations, on the daily routes of your travel.

— never pick up hitchhikers.

— avoid getting out of your vehicle in a secluded area, if at all possible. Try to drive to a well-lighted, heavily populated area if another vehicle hits your vehicle or you experience any other problem.

— never drive directly home if you think you're being followed. It may be important that the follower not know where you live. Drive to a "safe haven" until you're positive the follower is gone.

— indicate to a family member or a close associate, when feasible, where you're going and approximately when you'll be back. If you're missing for a long period of time, this information could help law enforcement officers find you.

Herbert Terry, director of Public Safety Planning's Office of Justice Programs, and Steven Njemanze, a program manager, noted that "being alert and not letting yourself become careless are two of the most important steps in preventing crime. Criminals like to prey on easy targets. Take every step now to help ensure that you, your home and your motor vehicle are not among these targets."

Library staff attends book festival

Myra Haynes and Sandra Ladner of the Hancock County Library System attended the 27th Annual Children's Book Festival last week at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

The highlight of the festival was the presentation of The University of Southern Mississippi Medallion to Ashley Bryan, well known in the field of children's literature as an illustrator, reteller and scholar of American spirituals and African folklore. The medallion is awarded annually for outstanding contributions in the field of children's literature.

Some of the workshops featured included "Extending Children's Literature," "Discussion of Caldecott and Newberry Winners," and "The Challenge of Illiteracy."

Workshop leaders included

Debra Ann King, with nine years experience in grades one and six and teaching children's literature and language arts/reading at the University of Southern Mississippi; Patsy H. Peritt, coordinator of youth services in the School of Library and Information Science at Louisiana State University; and Lillie Pope, educational director of the Ezra Jack Keats Foundation.

Ocean Springs Photo swap

The third annual Ocean Springs Photographic Equipment Swap Meet will be Saturday March 26 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Everything photographic will be available to buy, sell or trade at the Latimer Community Center in Ocean Springs. Take Exit 50 off I-10, then 3.4 miles north on Tucker Road.

The event is open to the public and parking is free. For more information contact David Stires at 392-6974.

Friends of Pass Library book sale

The Friends of the Pass Christian Public Library's monthly "Fund-raising Book Sale" will be Friday, March 18, 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The proceeds from the sale to be held at the used book store are used to support the library system.

The Friends of the Pass Library meet every Friday, 10 a.m. at the library located at 111 Hiern St.

Story hour titles told

"St. Patrick's Day" will be the theme for this week's children's story hour Wednesday, March 16 at 10:30 a.m. at the City-County Public Library's temporary location, 306 Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis, next to Mississippi Power Company.

Rumpelstiltskin and Little Bear Marches in St. Patrick's Day Parade are books to be featured. Children will see the film "Tale Feathers, Sylvester & Tweety" and will receive a color sheet. Refreshments will be served. Children should wear something green.

"Hop to Story Time" is the theme at the Waveland Library Friday, March 18 at 10:30 a.m.

Frog and Toad Together and Frog Went A-courtin' are the books to be featured. Children will make froggie magnets, sing songs and receive a color sheet. Refreshments will be served. "Green Grows the Garden" is the theme at the Kiln Library Friday, March 18 at 10:30 a.m.

Reggie the Rabbit Plants a Garden, The Tiny Seed, and The Vegetable Thieves are books to be read. Children will play "Simon Says" and receive a color sheet. Refreshments will be served, and children should wear something green.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group. For individual branch story time information, contact Janice Parrott, City-County Public Library, 467-5282; Evelyn Necaise, Waveland Library, 467-9240; or Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724.

Middle school students essay contest offered

Hancock County middle school students have only a few weeks to submit entries in the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 essay contest.

The theme of this year's contest is "My Career, My Choice, My Strengths."

United States savings bonds will be awarded in the amount of $100, $50 and $25 for the first, second and third place winners.

Essays not to exceed 200 words are to be written in black ink on one side of 8 x 11-inch paper.

The name and grade level of the student, along with the name of the school, must appear in the upper right-hand corner. Entries must be postmarked by midnight, March 31 to be eligible.

Send all entries to Ann Whidson, Education Chairman, 800 Dove Blvd., Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Hancock County students in grades four through eight are eligible to participate.

Safety tips

Kelly Cannon, the "Good Neigh Bear," and his wife, Julie, from State Farm Insurance Company, visit St. Clare kindergarten, sharing with them tips and reminders on how to be safe and stay safe.

Spring has arrived at The Magnolia Tree

The Magnolia Tree is an antique and gift store full of home accents and gifts for spring, including a large selection of silk flowers and plants.

Items are arriving daily for the perfect gift and decorating touch.

The Magnolia Tree carries traditional antiques, home gift accessories and seasonal decorations. They offer a large variety of crystal, silver, lamps, accent pillows, frames, candles, jewelry, linens (both old and new), as well as a fine selection of signed and numbered prints.

The store is partitioned into mini showrooms including a kiddie and kitchen corner.

Custom gift wrapping is available to coincide with the many affordable gift ideas available at The Magnolia Tree.

Owner Pat Varisco is assisted by manager Jean Gladney, who welcomes your visit as they prepare for their grand opening.

The Magnolia Tree is located in the new, attractive, gray building at 209-B Highway 90 in Waveland. Store hours are Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and is closed on Wednesday. For more information call 467-3410.

Knowledgable, personal service at Hubbard's

Hubbard's Waveland Hardware Store has all your hardware needs in one convenient location, but that's not the only reason customers have made the store the only place they shop for hardware items and building materials.

It's not only because they carry a large selection of quality and affordable hardware items, it's the service and friendliness of the knowledgable staff that keeps customers coming back.

Owners David and Richard Hubbard, along with their staff of Robert Poston, P.J. Mauffray, Jason Mauffray and Brian Erickson, make it their business to ensure customer satisfaction.

And the Hubbards have done so since 1950, when their father established the Hardware store in Bay St. Louis. In 1953, the store began carrying building materials and was moved to its present location in Waveland.

The store has remained in the family since then. David and Richard's mother ran the store from 1965 until they took over in 1985.

Aside from the many hardware items and building materials, Hubbard's carries a large selection of paints and varnishes and offers free computerized color matching with thousands of colors available.

Have keys made or materials cut while you browse the store.
Electrical, plumbing and garden supplies can also be found all under one roof.

Hubbard's Waveland Hardware, located at 615 Nicholson Ave., is open Monday through Saturday 8-5. Call 467-4494 for more information.

Knock, knock

That sound may point to a problem

Ominous car sounds tell you something may be wrong; understanding their cause can help you and your mechanic find and correct the problem before it becomes serious.

Here are some of the more common noises, listed by Car Care Council.

—A "clunk" from under the car when you start forward or back up could be a warning that a universal joint is failing. That's serious if it breaks and the drive shaft drops while you're driving.

If you have a front-wheel drive car, you'll also get a clunking sound if you have a looseness in a CV joint (like a universal joint that connects the front wheels to the transverse axle).

—When you apply the brakes and hear a squeal or a scraping sound, that could indicate worn brake linings or pads. If allowed to continue, it could result in damaging brake drums or rotors, making the repair more extensive.

—A thumping sound from a tire could be caused by flat spots on the tread due to improper balance or alignment. It also could be tread separation, which could result in a blowout.

—The sound of ticking in the engine usually is a valve lifter, generally heard when the engine is idling.

—A sudden screech from under the hood could be a worn or loose drive belt.

—A knocking or ping from under the hood when you accelerate could be from low grade gasoline, incorrect timing or other tune-up adjustments.

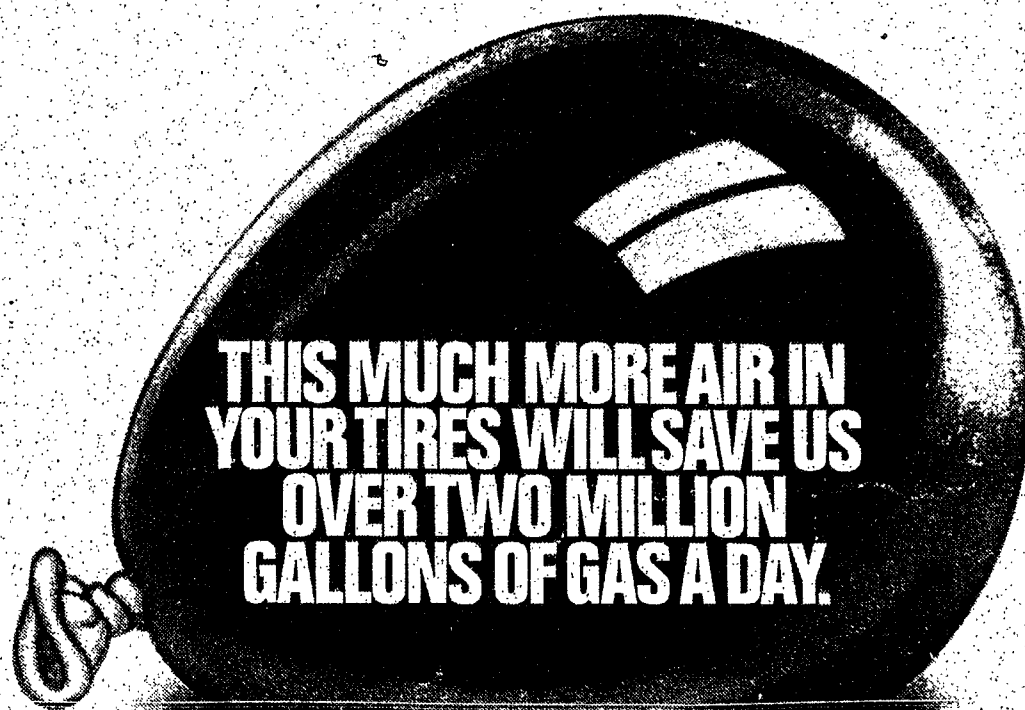

—A whining sound as you move from a standstill to normal driving speed could be coming from the transmission and could mean that you are low on transmission fluid. You probably won't hear this sound when the car is idling or in neutral.

—A spitting sound or rumble from somewhere under the car could be an exhaust leak. This is a potentially dangerous situation, due to poisonous exhaust fumes that could seep into the car.

If you raise the hood and hear a steady snapping sound that speeds up if the engine runs faster, it could mean a spark plug wire is loose or shorting out. The snapping sound is a spark jumping from the bad wire to the metal of the engine.

You turn on the ignition switch and hear a clicking sound, but the starter does nothing, your battery may need charging or replacing. It also could be loose or corroded connections. The clicking comes from the starter solenoid, which isn't getting enough voltage to engage the starter.

Don't blow it: Keeping the right pressure in your tires will save you gas and money. President Bush hopes you'll do your part, and help us lessen our dependence on unreliable sources of oil.

YEAR-OLD
WIPER BLADES
DUE FOR A CHANGE

Good visibility during inclement weather requires fresh, flexible wiper blades. If the ones on your car are about to celebrate their first birthday, they are probably due for a change, says Car Care Council.

And here's a tip: When you do replace the old wiper blades with new ones, regular cleaning with a mild detergent of the wiping edge can increase their efficiency... and their life.

Overheating

Prevent problems by checking cooling system, engine for leaks

When a cooling system fails, the engine overheats. And when a car overheats for very long, metal engine parts can be seriously damaged and require expensive repair.

Overheating can result when the coolant level is too low or when there is a leak in the system. Sometimes just driving in stop-and-go traffic on a hot summer day with the air conditioner running is enough to overheat the engine.

Coolant loss

A low coolant level leads to overheating because there isn't enough fluid in the system to absorb engine heat.

The air in the system that is absorbing these high temperatures is a poor heat conductor and won't do an effective job of transferring the heat to the radiator.

Cars with coolant recovery tanks have markings on the white plastic tank indicating where coolant levels should be when the car is running and when it's not. If the coolant level is low after repeated fillings, you probably have a leak in the system.

Coolant hose leaks

Hoses are the most likely source of leaks because they are structurally the weakest components of the cooling system.

Hoses must be flexible to absorb vibration, so they are made of rubber compounds. Rubber, unfortunately, is not as durable as metal.

Water pump leaks

It is common to find an occasional drop of coolant under the water pump. Excessive leaking, however, indicates a problem. Housing bolts on the pump should be tight. If they are, and leaking persists, the pump's inner seal is probably damaged and the pump must be replaced.

Radiator leaks

Radiator leaks are often just the result of a loose petcock or plug. Simple tightening should correct this.

The inner seal on the radiator cap should be checked periodically. If the seal is cracked, or the metal parts are rusted, coolant will escape and the cap will fail to pressurize the remaining coolant adequately.

While stains on the radiator point to a more serious problem. These stains result from coolant reacting with the metal parts.

Pouring a liquid sealant in the radiator might solve the problem, but chances are good that the radiator needs to be repaired or replaced. This is frequently the case with many of today's aluminum radiators.

Heater leaks

Leaks can occur in the heater control valve or in the heater core. A liquid sealant can sometimes help but, more often than not, the heating system units

Intense engine heat can harden and crack even the best rubber; oil can soften and swell it; the simple passage of time can break down its internal bonding; and electrochemical degradation can crack the tube.

In many instances, hose leaks occur at faulty connections to the inlet and outlet pipes. Make certain the hose clamps are secure.

When replacing a hose, it's also a good idea to replace the clamps. Traditional worm-drive clamps or the new constant tension clamps are best.

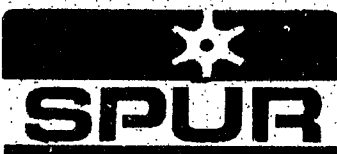

To extend the service life of a hose, keep it away from damaging external elements such as hot manifolds, oil-leaking parts and sharp edges. In these situations, protect the hose with a sleeve.

You should also avoid using the soluble oils found in some coolants, under the assumption they lubricate the water pump. Most modern antifreeze solutions contain all the lubricants a water pump needs. Soluble oil only serves to destroy a hose before its time.

All cooling system hoses should be inspected every six months. Most often, the upper radiator hose and the curved bypass hose will fail without warning. But, eventually they all will need to be replaced.

Cooling system hoses should be replaced roughly every four years.

My car... my friend

Nobody enjoys being ranked second—especially when there are only two options to begin with. But it's really an insult when you are being pushed aside for something that is neither living nor breathing.

Of course, this is debatable, particularly if the object (yes, object) in question is many people's most treasured possession—their car, (a.k.a. automobile, darling, baby, number 1, etc.).

Cars are, to some people, better companions than their human counterparts. Think about the time and energy people put into the grooming and conditioning of their automobiles—it seems as though many car owners are more interested in the well-being of their vehicle than they are in themselves!

• Let's go shopping—for the car, that is. Bras, skirts, wings—many cars have smarter wardrobes than their owners do.

• Have an annual check-up—Car owners probably are more familiar with their mechanic than they are their physician.

• Can't afford a four-star restaurant? Car fanatics manage to scrape up enough change to fill their tanks with four-star gas!

• How about a manicure? In other words, how about dressing up the tires, adding rims...

• Massage—How often do you treat yourself to one of these, if at all? Every time you wax your car, its getting treated to just that.

• Protection to the max—

Woe to the invader who touches this gem-on-wheels! People take caution to the limit—combination locks, high-tech alarm systems, wheel, gear, brake locks, and even cars that tell you, through an intercom system, if it is being stolen or vandalized.

• Everyone needs a friend... and indeed, cars are some owners' very best friends, as we have all heard people speak more affectionately—and frequently—about their beloved automobile than they do their mate or spouse.

And we have all spotted people driving, and having what appears to be a deep conversation with, either themselves, or, yours truly.

• What's in a name? As far as some car owners are concerned, a great deal. Owners brand their vehicles with car versions of tattoos—colorfully painted signatures on the body of the car, or personalized license plates.

• Extras, extras! Cars these days look like Christmas ornaments! Fluorescent lights of neon green, pink or blue, animal skin upholstery, flashing colored lights, textured steering wheel and gear coverings, and stuffed animals with suction cups customized just for cars.

will have to be replaced.

Engine leaks

Leaks can occur on the engine block wherever there is a bolted housing, such as at the thermostat or water pump housing.

You should also inspect the block's drain plugs and core plugs (also known as freeze plugs). Core plugs are holes left in the engine when it is cast and later covered by metal discs. If these discs loosen or corrode, coolant can escape from the block.

If leaking continues after you've checked all the hoses, clamp connections and metal components of the cooling system, the leak is probably internal.

This situation can be confirmed by the presence of engine oil in the coolant, in the exhaust system, or transmission fluid. A visually inspected sample of the coolant will reveal the presence of oil. In both the latter situations, however, sophisticated test instruments will help make this determination.

In all cases, internal leaks can be the result of blown head gaskets, cracked heads or blocks, and loose or damaged head bolts. Usually, major engine repair is required.

Is Replacing Your Old Car Worth The Hassle?

Is your old car squeezing you for everything you're worth? Are you fighting the urge, with every last ounce of determination, to head for the dealer's showroom or used car lot? Well, whether it's the once-trusty old family sedan, the once-shiny sports car or the pick-up that was once the envy of truckers from Idaho to Ohio, your once-prized vehicle probably represented a sizeable investment.

Thinking about investing perhaps no more than the amount of a downpayment to fix it up may just make the soundest financial sense. A little money can go a long way toward upgrading a car.

Here's how to consider this option objectively:

1. Visit a mechanic and let him inspect your car. After compiling a list of mechanical needs, he can approximate the cost to put it back in good shape. If the car is paid for, you'll probably save money by giving it a new lease on life. Further, by having it repaired, you can make your car serviceable for another two to three years while saving toward its replacement. After all, you'll even have more value to bargain with when you're ready to trade!

2. Diagnosing mechanical problems is one consideration, but how about a manicure? Car owners should look to buffing out the paint job, fixing dented fenders or replacing missing trim.

Some touch-up work or perhaps a new paint job may be needed. How about pin-stripes or adding rims to dress up the tires a bit?

3. Next, look at the interior. Does the fabric need to be cleaned and/or repaired? Would a sun roof make "Old Faithful" snazzier?

To estimate the costs of a cosmetic upgrading, you'll need the help of a body and paint shop plus an upholstery and trim professional.

If you decide to revamp the car you already own, depending upon the extent of the project, you may need a little help from your bank. Most banks will be eager to finance a loan for repairs on an older car—the sum will be less and therefore a reduced risk. The customer's payments will be smaller and on a shorter term.

So the options beckon:

- a new car that may strain the budget and depreciate greatly once you drive off the lot;

- a used car that's an unknown; and
- the once-beloved car you already own.

Remember, regardless of the work your car requires, it won't likely be as costly as the first two options! Put the pencil to it and arrive at a conclusive figure. Treat your car to a makeover or an upgrade and, in return, it will give you extended years of driving enjoyment.

Routine maintenance

Save dollars in the long run

Motorists, beware: Summer's heat, dust and stop-and-go traffic will take their toll on your vehicle. Add the effects of last winter, and you could be poised for a breakdown.

You can lessen the odds of mechanical failure through periodic maintenance. Your vehicle should last longer, too—up to 50 percent longer, according to the non-profit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE).

ASE, which tests and certifies the competence of Automotive technicians, presents the following car care tips as a public service. Some are easy to do, others require a skilled auto technician.

- Air conditioning. A marginally operating system will fail in hot weather. Have the system examined by a technician who is ASE-certified in air conditioning repair and service.

- Cooling system. The greatest cause of summer breakdowns is overheating. The cooling system should be completely flushed and refilled about every 24 months.

The level, condition, and concentration of the coolant should be checked periodically. (A 50/50 mix of anti-freeze and water is usually recommended.)

Do-it-yourselfers, wait until the engine has cooled before removing the radiator cap! The tightness and condition of drive belts, clamps and hoses should be checked by a pro.

- Oil. Change your oil and oil filter as specified in your manual—more often (every 3,000 miles) if you make frequent short jaunts, extended trips with lots of luggage, or tow a trailer.

- Engine performance. Replace other filters (air, fuel, PCV, etc.) as recommended—more often in dusty conditions. Have engine problems (hard starts, rough idling, diminished power, etc.) corrected at a good shop with modern testing equipment and ASE-certified technicians.

- Windshield wipers. A dirty windshield causes eye fatigue and can pose a safety hazard. Replace worn blades and keep plenty of windshield washer solvent on hand.

- Tires. Have your tires rotated about every 5,000 miles. Check tire pressures once a month; let the tires "cool down" first. Don't forget to check your spare, and be sure the jack is in good condition.

Examine each tire for tread life, uneven wearing, and cupping; check the sidewalls for cuts and nicks. An alignment is warranted if there's uneven tread wear or if your vehicle "pulls."

- Brakes. Brakes should be inspected as recommended in your manual, or sooner if you notice pulsations, grabbing, noises, or longer stopping distance. Minor brake problems should be corrected promptly.

- Emergencies. Carry some basic tools. Ask a technician for suggestions. Also include a first aid kit, flares and a flashlight. Consider buying a CB radio or car phone.

To find a good technician, ask friends and associates for recommendations; check out the reputation of the repair shop with your local consumer group, and look for technicians who have earned national certification through ASE. Shops with certified technicians often display ASE's blue and white sign.

For ASE's free summer car care brochure, send a business-sized, stamped envelope to: ASE, Dept. MC-S92, 13505 Dulles Technology Dr., Herndon, VA 22071.

Tune Up Today, Avoid Trouble Tomorrow

Today's high-tech automobiles can accumulate tens of thousands of miles with very little evidence of wear. Despite the longevity, cars still need to be inspected regularly to avoid costly repairs down the road.

"One area often overlooked is the ignition system," says Bill Wetzel, senior product manager for Belden Automotive, a division of Cooper Automotive. "Battery connections and spark plug wires are essential parts in every car that many times go unchecked too long."

In most cases, that all-to-familiar sound of a grinding starter barely turning an engine over can be traced back to the battery.

Batteries lose their charge over time, especially in cold weather, and cable connections can corrode. A certified technician can test the strength of a battery's charge. If there is any corrosion where the cables connect to the battery, they should be thoroughly cleaned.

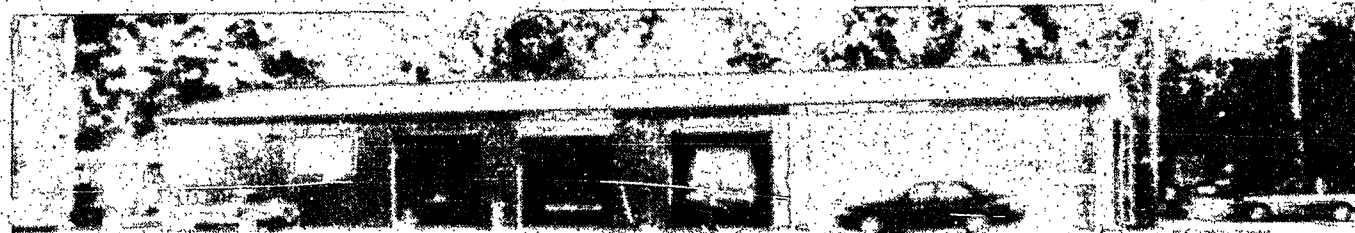

"Batteries and corrosion go hand-in-hand," Wetzel says. "The terminals need to be cleaned and checked regu-

Brake failure can often be prevented

Brake failure is the leading cause of motor accidents due to mechanical deficiencies. The vast majority of these failures can be traced to neglected maintenance.

Car Care Council offers this basic information to help owners better understand their vehicles' braking systems.

—When you step on the brake pedal, you create friction that resists the wheels from turning. Eventually, friction causes the brake parts to wear out and require replacement. You can make your brakes wear better and keep repair costs down by using good driving habits.

—When you stop, let the vehicle slow gradually instead of stopping suddenly. Never ride the brakes on long hills.

—For maintenance, check the fluid level in the master cylinder once a month, and add heavy duty brake fluid if the level is low.

—Be aware of the symptoms of brake trouble and seek the advice of a qualified technician when brakes act erratically. You cannot put a price tag on the security of knowing you have a good braking system under foot.

—In order to take care of your car's braking system, you should understand it. Use the accompanying diagram to familiarize yourself with its major components.

Antifreeze is an important part of your car's engine. The engine gets hot during the summer months, and antifreeze helps to cool it down. Without antifreeze, the engine would overheat and be damaged.

If you don't use antifreeze, your engine could freeze in the winter months, and you would be stranded.

In fact, antifreeze is one of the most important things you can do for your car. It helps to keep the engine cool and prevents it from freezing.

And even if you don't live in a cold climate, antifreeze is still important. It helps to prevent rust and corrosion in the engine.

According to experts, the most common cause of engine failure is a lack of proper maintenance.

Keep

Del

To A

In recent years, the automotive industry has seen a significant increase in the number of accidents caused by brake failure. This is often due to a lack of proper maintenance and inspection.

Without proper maintenance, the brake system can become worn and ineffective. This can lead to a loss of control and a potential accident.

Experts at the Goodyear service center in Waveland recommend a complete brake inspection every 10,000 miles or every two years, whichever comes first.

People who drive in areas with heavy traffic or on rough roads should have their brakes inspected more frequently.

Order to keep your car in good condition and prevent accidents.

Keeping your car in good condition is important for your safety and the safety of others. Regular maintenance can help prevent accidents and extend the life of your car.

Change antifreeze yearly for best results

Antifreeze is one of the most important fluids used in your car's engine. It not only protects the engine from boiling over in hot summer weather and freezing in winter, it also prevents damaging rust and corrosion build-up in the cooling system.

If you neglect to change your antifreeze regularly, your car could fail and leave you stranded on the highway.

In fact, most roadside breakdowns occur because a car owner failed to change his or her antifreeze and maintain the cooling system on a regular basis.

And even if the existing antifreeze tests okay for freeze-up and boil-over protection, its rust and corrosion inhibitors may be weak and ineffective.

TIME TO CHANGE

According to the cooling system experts at First Brands Corporation, the maker of Prestone Antifreeze/Coolant, there are three basic ways to determine whether it is time to change your antifreeze.

The first way is to test the antifreeze with a tester. A device like the Prestone Antifreeze/Coolant Tester, which can be purchased from most automotive outlets, will allow you to see if a low concentration of antifreeze exists in the system. If the concentration is low, you need to change the antifreeze.

The second involves visual inspection. If the existing antifreeze appears dirty or has floating debris, it must be replaced.

The third way to tell is if it's been one year or more since you last changed your antifreeze.

After one year, most of the important corrosion inhibitors are depleted, which means that neglecting to change your antifreeze regularly can leave your cooling system susceptible to rust and corrosion.

FLUSH SYSTEM

Changing your antifreeze

begins by thoroughly flushing the cooling system. But using only water for this process can leave behind rust, grease and other sediments that can hinder the system's performance.

The experts advise you to use a product which is specially formulated for flushing the cooling system and can remove more oil, sediment and rust than flushing with water alone.

Once the system has been thoroughly flushed, the next step is to refill it with the proper mixture of high quality antifreeze and water. But not all antifreeze brands are the same.

Only the most effective have the extra corrosion inhibitors needed to give modern cooling systems optimum protection.

THE RIGHT MIX

A minimum 50-50 mix of antifreeze/coolant and water will lower the freezing point of your cooling system to minus 34°F (with a 15-pound pressure cap) and raise its boiling point to 265°F.

A 70-30 mix (70 percent antifreeze to water), the highest recommended ratio, will lower the freezing point to minus 84°F and raise the boiling point to 276°F (with a 15-pound pressure cap).

Maintaining your cooling system today will help to ensure trouble-free driving throughout the summer season.

Keep Your Car's Fuel Delivery System Clean To Avoid Repairs

In recent years, fuel injection has become the dominant fuel-delivery system in new car technology. Because an automobile's fuel-injector nozzle is roughly about the diameter of a human hair, it takes just a small amount of dirt or debris to cause serious blockage problems. Once formed, fuel injector deposits can reduce fuel-efficiency and adversely affect overall engine performance.

Without proper care, this could lead to an expensive repair bill. So car owners should help keep their car's fuel systems clean. According to the experts at First Brands Corp., the maker of STP® automotive products, people are turning to fuel additives in order to keep their cars' fuel-injection systems running at peak efficiency.

rough idling and decreased acceleration can also benefit from fuel-injector cleaners.

By regularly using a fuel additive, like STP Super Concentrated Fuel Injector Cleaner, car owners can clean their fuel injection systems and help keep harmful deposits from coming back. The formula in STP Super Concentrated Fuel Injector Cleaner contains a highly concentrated detergent that quickly dissolves accumulated deposits and cleans dirty fuel injectors. One treatment will instantly help unclog a car's dirty injectors. Regular Keeping deposits from returning is particularly important during the summer months. With vehicle owners relying on their cars for weekend outings, vacations and recreation, fuel-efficiency and engine performance are critical.

Using a fuel-injector cleaner, like STP® Super Concentrated Fuel Injector Cleaner™, will help clean and condition your entire fuel-delivery system. Cleaning clogged injectors will increase fuel-efficiency and reduce emissions. Cars that are experiencing vehicle maintenance practices should include adding a 12-ounce bottle to a full tank of gas every 2,500 miles to help maintain a vehicle's maximum operating efficiency and performance.

So clean your car's entire fuel-delivery system before your car suffers loss of performance or is in the shop for repairs instead of on the road.

Tire inflation affects fuel maintenance level

It's quick, it's easy, it's free and, best of all, even the home mechanic who's all thumbs can do it.

The "it" is checking the pressure in your car's tires, something you should be doing on a regular basis.

Air is still free at many service stations and inexpensive tire gauges are even available in supermarkets.

Improper tire inflation takes its toll of tires through uneven wear and, in some cases, accidents.

In addition to forcing you to replace tires more frequently, an underinflated tire creates more rolling resistance. More simply put, it means that your car burns more gasoline trying to push itself along on underinflated tires.

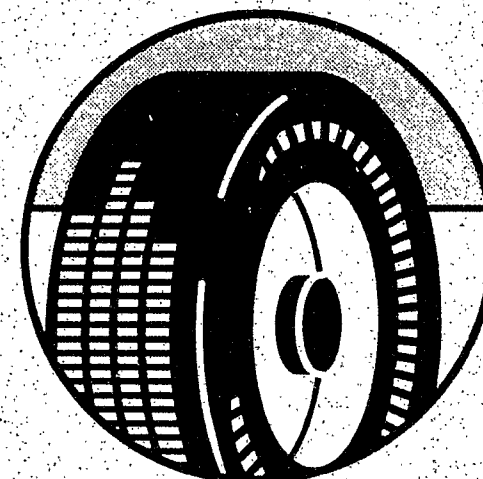

Telling figures

Estimates show that a tire underinflated by only five pounds of air increases fuel consumption by as much as seven percent, according to one industry source.

Check tire pressure in morning

Recommended pressures normally apply to cold tires, meaning that you should check your tire pressures early in the morning, before you begin your drive.

If underinflating a tire is bad, what about overinflation? The answer is that putting too much air in your tires is not advisable because, like underinflation, this can also cause tires to wear prematurely, decrease ride comfort, alter your car's handling performance, and reduce the tires' contact patch, that small square of your tire in contact with the road's surface at a given moment.

How do you know if your car's tires need more or less air? One way is that an underinflated tire will often show wear on the outer surfaces of the tread.

An overinflated tire will show wear by the smoothing of the tread in the middle of the tire, but your best bet is keeping a tire gauge in your car and taking readings regularly.

Replace tires as necessary

By federal law, all tires sold in this country must incorporate wear indicators in the form of smooth, treadless strips running across the width of the tire, which become visible as the tire's tread reaches the point that indicates the tire should be replaced.

Include shocks, struts in safety check

A common cause of highway accidents is the driver's loss of control of the vehicle.

Reasons vary, and may include driving too fast for conditions, rough road surface, momentary inattention at the wheel and many more, but the net result is an accident.

In many cases a more "forgiving" car can help avoid such a crisis. The term relates to a car's ability to cling to the road when the driver enters a curve too fast or to stay on course when the right wheels run onto the shoulder of the road.

A valuable safety feature of a late-model car is its excellent handling characteristics. Good "roadability," which can help keep drivers out of trouble, should remain theirs for the life of their cars if they practice preventive maintenance.

This means regular checks, service and replacement of critical systems like brakes, steering and suspension, including tires.

Vacation time

Make driving a breeze with preventive measures

For most of us, spring and summer mean vacation time. And if your vacation includes driving, some basic preventive measures can mean the difference between a refreshing break and a disastrous outing.

A motor oil and filter change should be at the top of your maintenance list before a long trip. Consult your owner's manual for the proper viscosity grade.

If you intend to pull a camper, boat or other type of trailer on your trip, it's important that you have a vehicle equipped with the proper towing package and use the right motor oil.

Use a heavy-duty motor oil to take the stress of towing. Let the owner's manual be your guide to determine if and how you should pull a load with your vehicle.

A complete maintenance check-up should also include:

- Checking all belts and hoses to make sure they are in good condition.
- Checking all reservoirs for the correct amount of fluid.

These include the brake fluid, transmission fluid and power steering fluid.

- Tuning up the car and making sure all electrical systems are operating properly.

- Checking the tires for correct pressure and to detect signs of abnormal wear.

- Checking the exhaust system.

- Checking the windshield wiper blades and filling the wiper fluid reservoir.

- Checking the engine coolant level for the correct concentration of fluid.

- Checking the air-conditioning system to make sure it is not leaking, is properly charged with refrigerant and is operating.

When you stop the car to fill up with gasoline or to give the travelers a break, you should pop the hood and check the oil and fluid levels again.

Vacations can provide memorable experiences for everyone. A little attention to the car can ensure that the memories aren't bad ones.

Shocks

defined as ride-control parts, also fit into the category of safety equipment. (A strut has a shock absorber inside a "housing," which connects the suspension to the vehicle's body.)

If you're riding on worn shocks and struts, your vehicle may be unsafe not only to driver and passengers, but also to other vehicles on the road.

Your car's ability to steer, brake and accelerate depends on the friction between the tires and the road. Instability of a vehicle, such as bouncing wheels or swaying on turns, is caused by worn shock absorbers and/or struts.

Worn shocks will also cause a nose-dive action when you come to a stop and can increase braking distances up to 10 percent.

The symptoms of deteriorating ride control can gradually "sneak up on you" until they become noticeably bad. Such was the case with many owners of several hundred cars and trucks inspected during a National Car Care Month vehicle check.

Forty-four percent had discrepancies with ride control components, mainly leaking shocks or struts. When the condition was brought to the owners' attention, they noted their vehicles had been riding or handling poorly.

Tune-Ups

larly. They are simple enough to check, and it could save time and money in the long run if there is a problem.

Another area often overlooked is the spark plug wires. A number of signs to look for when checking the wires include corroded and torn boots, and cracks and abrasions in the wires.

The boots will corrode and tear from excessive vibrations, while heat may cause rubber insulation to crack. Abrasions can occur when a stretched wire comes in contact with another object. Also, a spark plug wire soaked in oil may not perform up to par.

Warning signs of trouble include misfire during acceleration, hard starting and reduced gas mileage.

"Damaged wires can carry electrical current to the spark plugs, but the charge may not be as strong as it should be," Wetzel says. "Trouble with wires can lead to bigger trouble down the road, including towing charges and large repair bills."

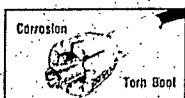

Just because your car starts every day doesn't mean the ignition system shouldn't be inspected on a regular basis.

"Preventive maintenance will help keep you on the road, especially when it comes to the ignition system," Wetzel says. "Nothing can ruin a vacation trip quicker than a mechanical breakdown on the highway, especially one that costs a bundle to fix."
